Treasure Hunt

CLUES NORTH

1. Coming into the station named after James Connolly
Walk along, take your time, don't run and be silly
When you reach Platform 4, before the ticket gates
There between the two steel drinks machines on the wall it states
The names of the remembered dead of Rebellion and Wars
Lists side by side of men who fought for the crown and Ireland's cause
Stop and look through their names for two men who died long ago
Named after common Irish animal's, write their names below.

2. Well done, but don't move just yet!
For another clue on platform four is set
Glass advertising displays line up on the wall on the right
They are above the waiting seats, how many display cases are in sight?
For your answer Add the one number that's between them on the wall.

Leave Connolly station until your homeward journey for now it's time to catch some CHQ Christmas spirit, out the front door and down the escalators, past the LUAS and turn left towards the 'DOCK OFFICE' on the Harbourmaster Bar. As you cross the Bridge take note:

3. So the MASTER of the HARBOUR sits beside a bridge.
Where 12 balls of light and 16 iron fishes are curled up tight.
Macnee, the makers name they all boldly say.
But tell us: In what town were the fishes 'found' or made?

Welcome to the CHQ building its good to have you here
All the clues are inside in the warmth you'll be glad to hear
So dart about and see what you can find and seek
Write it down on your sheet or if in trouble we won't think it cheek
If you get some help from the Old Master himself
He's cloaked in black and red and is as helpful as an ancient elf
With a cane and a top hat, look about, he's hard to miss
The time has come to solve these clues, so it is.

GOOD LUCK...

4. The Baking smells carry smiles along
But from which house do they belong?
Go there and answer please this riddle:
Pretty on pink the shoppers sit
So how many shoppers can they fit?

5. The floor is new and shiny in this old place
The glass is wide where it does the Liffey face
In what year did they begin to do this glasswork
That my friends is now your homework?

6. Roll out the Barrel!
Made by men who's trade is sadly lost
Barrel makers, called Coopers did their most
For years and years in the Vaults wine was stored below
Now only a few barrels are left to remind us of long ago
How many?

7. Eagle eyes will you use on this next important task
Position yourselves to the absolute right of this end of glass
Tucked into the corner with the lift behind
Across the water on the other side a big number you must find
Look over O'Casey's bridge and our river Liffey
you may squint and stare but worry not for in a jiffy
You will see it big and bold across the water
What you seek peeks just left of the signpost there
The signpost at the bridge left of the cycle racks
Follow with your eyes these simple tracks.

8. Oh what a Feast the soldiers had!
Oh what a night that was!
This old building never saw the like of it!
The old soldier's dined and wined for hours on end
Oh what they ate!
Oh and they ate so Much!
But tell us this...with Military precision.
How many Plum Puddings did they dish in?

9. Nearly finished it's the second last clue!
Let's hope your answers are all complete and true
To the back door go and take two straight steps outside
To the left look towards the bridge you crossed to get inside
A sign sits between you and the Harbourmaster's clock
The speed is what we want your answer to unlock?

10. To end the treasure trail and see if you have won
Tell us how many cast iron pillars are keeping the roof on?
Count them all and add them up and you are done!
Congratulations and we hope you had some Christmas fun.
